Scientists Can't Halt Surveyor 2

BULLETIN
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists unable to halt the spinning of the Surveyor 2 moon-bound spacecraft said early today that the mission is completed—a failure.

By ROBERT COOKE
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The apparent failure of a small rocket motor aboard America's Surveyor 2 spacecraft caused the three-legged lunar photographer to tumble uncontrolled in space, scientists said today.

The tumbling, at a rate of about one revolution per second, casts doubt on the chances for a successful mission, they said, unless the craft can be stabilized.

Two attempts at correcting the tumbling — by firing all three small vernier rockets for two seconds — failed, they said, when the No. 3 rocket didn't fire again.

Al Hibbs, staff scientist at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said the failure of the No. 3 rocket engine was the apparent cause of the tumbling, which began when the rockets were fired for the mid-course maneuver.

"Consequently, engines one and two gave quite a tipping motion," said Hibbs.

The mid-course maneuver — a gentle roll in space followed by a short shot of rocket power — was meant to slow the craft enough to put it exactly on target on the moon.

After launch Tuesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., scientists said the craft was on a good course for the moon's Sinus Medii — Central Bay. The course, they said, was "at least as good as Surveyor 1's, well within the capability of a mid-course correction to bring us to the programmed landing point."

The accuracy of the launch was confirmed by the brief — 9.8 seconds — burst of power needed to correct its trajectory. Without the correction, scientists said, Surveyor 2 would have missed its target by only three degrees.

Sinus Medii, the programmed landing point, is right in the middle of the side of the moon visible to the earth. It is one of nine possible landing sites selected for the first Apollo astronauts when they head for the moon late in this decade. Surveyor 2's job is to take pictures of the site to determine if it is safe.

Surveyor 1, first of seven craft designed to land softly on the moon, touched down gently last June 1, about 800 miles west and slightly south of the Central Bay. It returned more than 11,000 excellent-quality pictures of the rough lunar surface.

Surveyor 2's 63-hour journey to the moon was scheduled to end with a gentle landing at 11:43.78 p.m. (EDT) Thursday. At that time, spokesman said, the moon will be 241,027 miles from the earth.

U.S. Going on With Test as Usual
By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials indicated today that the United States will go ahead with plans for 24 non-nuclear underwater test explosions off the Russian-held Kurile Islands, despite a Soviet protest. Authorities described the program as a major seismological field experiment to determine how fast sound waves travel through the earth in a vast earthquake-prone area of the north Pacific Ocean 500 miles long and 30 miles wide.

Information is essential to the accurate locating of earthquakes and other phenomena, it was explained.

The series of one-ton TNT blasts will begin in a few days under the direction of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency.

The program is designed to study the feasibility of distinguishing between underground nuclear explosions and earthquakes through the detecting, locating, and identifying of seismic disturbances.

Officials emphasized that the purpose of the tests in the Kurile Islands area was not to increase U.S. capability for detection of Russian nuclear blasts.

But some sources indicated that the study could serve as a deterrent to any Russian nuclear tests.

"If you were trying to hide something," one defense official said, "you would try to hide in an active area," meaning an area where earthquakes frequently occur.

The Russians have protested that the blasts may damage their seismic equipment in the area as well as disrupt fishing and the migration of fur-bearing birds.

More than 300 Russian fishing trawlers operate among the 36 islands of the Kurile chain located between Russia's Kamchatka Peninsula and Japan.

The State Department announced Wednesday it has assured Russia that all possible precautions will be taken against damaging fishing resources.

It said representatives of the Soviet Union and Japan have been invited to observe the blasts, which would not be made within five miles of fishing vessels on the high seas. Two chartered commercial ships will undertake the experiment and all results will be made available to the international scientific community, the State Department said.

RAY CRAIN
Ray Crain, Veterans Employment Representative for Arkansas, will be guest speaker Friday at a meeting of the Rotary Club.

Crain will discuss some of the provisions of the New GI Bill passed earlier this year. He will also discuss services available to veterans in the field of employment and the challenge facing the nation in providing suitable employment for the handicapped veteran.

Speculation on his successor centered on Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, son of Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, a Texan like Johnson. But the possibility of the selection of Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, a Negro, for the top post was not ruled out.

New Reading on Foreign Policy Likely

By JACK BUELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cautious senators are about to seize the opportunity of taking a new reading on President Johnson's foreign policies as a result of the shakeup in his State Department team.

There was little doubt that the nominations of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to be under-secretary of state, of Prof. Eugene Rostow as undersecretary for economic affairs and of Ambassador Roy D. Mohr as deputy under-secretary of state will get Senate confirmation.

But before that happens, many-titled Democrats and Republicans on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made it clear they want to know what it's all about and whether the appointments.

Johnson announced Wednesday portend any change in his international course.

Almost without exception, senators expressed amazement that Katzenbach would step down from a Cabinet to a sub-Cabinet level.

Speculation on his successor centered on Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, son of Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, a Texan like Johnson. But the possibility of the selection of Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, a Negro, for the top post was not ruled out.

Freeman was not available for comment Wednesday night. His wife told a newsman the KSTP-TV report was erroneous. She said Freeman was in bed with a bad cold.

Whether Katzenbach was taking the first step toward eventually succeeding Dean Rusk as secretary of state remained an intriguing question that apparently only Johnson himself could answer.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, called for a "thorough inquiry" by the Foreign Relations Committee into Katzenbach's views and any impact the appointment might have in altering the administration's course in Viet Nam and elsewhere.

Inspections of Trucks, Cars Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A law calling for periodic inspections of cars and trucks was among recommendations sent to Gov. Orval Faubus Tuesday by the Traffic Safety Advisory Commission.

The commission recommended 15 legislative proposals and 41 administrative changes.

Five of the legislative recommendations were concerned with the licensing of drivers and others with the adoption of uniform laws and improving of record-keeping on accidents and traffic violations.

The commission was appointed by Faubus after it was learned that states could lose federal funds for highways unless they started highway safety programs. Sen. Merle F. Peterson of Dumas heads the commission, which has 19 members, many of them with state agencies whose jurisdictions touch on traffic safety.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — That weary combat infantryman, Sgt. Saunders, is starting his fifth year of fighting the Germans, apparently without a change of uniform or helmet. But in spite of time and familiarity, ABC's "Combat" still remains the best series of its kind in television.

This season the show has moved into color, which does not really add much of a new dimension, but its change of locale has. "Combat" has moved to a new studio and the location shots are a change from backlot settings which were getting to be as familiar as "Gunsmoke's" main street.

The story Tuesday night was typical of the series — the carrying out of a single assignment. The job was to blow up a bridge, and the episode was filmed with attention to detail and considerable realism, but most of all, with emphasis on the characters and relationships of the men. In this case it was Saunders, well played by Vic Morrow, having his troubles handling four GIs who were on their way behind the lines to face court-martials.

After constant exposure to so many frantic new shows during the past couple of weeks, it was a relief to tune in on an old favorite, CBS' "Red Skelton Show," firmly established in viewers' affections after 13 seasons.

Skelton is a funny, engaging man — even when his material is pretty thin as it was Tuesday night during an interminable sketch with Mickey Rooney. One thing that is often overlooked in this hour is the delightful singing and dancing numbers and the handsome, imaginative sets.

Skelton's show probably was taped early in August, since the comedian's monologue was almost entirely devoted to a string of wisecracks about the Johnson-Nugent White House wedding. In spite of everything, it is a variety hour with a talented star that wears amazingly.

It was "CBS Reports" turn Tuesday night to take up the subject of "The Poisoned Air." It was a well-organized, provocative and alarming summary of the situation.

NBC covered the same subject Sunday, but the CBS hour seemed to probe a bit deeper, explain more clearly and point the finger more directly at the offenders.

Students in Protest of Sukarno

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Thousands of students demonstrated in Jakarta today against President Sukarno for the second successive day, and again the army did not interfere.

More than 8,000 students massed in the heart of the capital to hear Sukarno accused of masterminding the attempted Communist coup last October. Troops made no move against them but surrounded Sukarno's palace to prevent any attempt by the demonstrators to march against it.

"Sukarno must get out of the palace on his own, or the students will throw him out," leaders shouted.

Indonesia's military government has been trying to dampen the student demands for Sukarno's ouster, fearing a civil war between fanatic supporters of the president and his student opponents. A military source said the anti-Sukarno students would be allowed to demonstrate but not on the 100,000-person scale they had planned.

One top-ranking general said earlier this week that the army would no longer recognize the "parliament of the streets" — a reference to the demonstrations which were largely responsible for Sukarno's transfer of most of his powers to the army strongman, Gen. Suharto.

The demonstration today was organized by the high school student action front, Kappi. Several thousand university students demonstrated Monday.

Churchill's Daughter Seeking a Divorce

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Lady Sarah Spencer-Churchill Russell, daughter of the Duke of Marlborough and a cousin of the late Winston Churchill, has filed suit for divorce from her husband Edwin F. Russell, former publisher of Vogue magazine.

The divorce action became public Tuesday with the filing of court papers. The grounds were listed as extreme mental cruelty.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people's problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US, this newspaper.

IT'S NEVER THE SAME — USUALLY

Dear Helen: I am 21 years old. Three years ago, after graduating from high school, I found a job as a typist in a large office.

One of my bosses was a 24-year-old bachelor who was a hard-working wonderful person. He was awfully nice to everyone and I quickly grew to like him. Then my liking turned to love, but he never knew. He paid no extra attention to me. He treated all the girls the same, and he never dated any of us.

After about a year, he quit company. I haven't seen him in two years.

After all this time I still love him. Every man I meet — it's the same: I compare him to Dick. If a man resembles him even slightly, I like him better. I am miserably, hopelessly in love with someone who doesn't know I exist any more.

How can I shake this feeling? — Mary Ann

Dear Mary Ann: Once upon a time I thought I was "miserably, hopelessly in love" with a town I knew I'd never call home again, and I spent a year feeling sorry for myself — underneath — while pretending to everyone I "just loved" my new city.

Then we went back for a visit. . . And I discovered the city I'd rejected was as important to me as my former home town, which now seemed a dreamlike and nostalgic place, but no longer "home".

Why don't you try the same cure? Look this wonderman up, chase him down even, and look at him with the eyes of an adult. What you considered the "living end" at age-18 you will likely think the end of the line at age 21.

... And if you don't — well, many a girl got her man after a planned campaign he never knew was happening. — H.

SECOND COUSIN: GO HOME!

Dear Helen: I'm 15 years old and have no love problem, no

Suit Filed Over a Stage Name

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Two women filed a $100,000 lawsuit against a third here Wednesday over use of the professional name, "The de Castro Sisters."

Pegge de Castro Lilley and Bobette de Castro Salon asked U.S. District Court for a $100,000 award from Cherie de Castro Hale, and $10,000 from The Vapors, a Hot Springs nightclub where Cherie has been working as an entertainer.

Pegge and Bobette have registered their professional names in Arkansas, the suit said. It said that Cherie had organized a group of entertainers and called the group "The de Castro Sisters."

Busy Schedule for Vacationer

HONOLULU (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, vacationing in Hawaii, had a busy day Tuesday with a schedule that included a catamaran ride, a canoe trip and a hike on the island of Kauai.

Cortisone Treatments Must Continue in Chronic Cases
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Will cortisone, if started early in the course of an inflammatory disease, cure it or will the disease come back on discontinuing the drug?
A—A short course of one of the cortisone-like drugs will greatly hasten the cure of some acute inflammations such as bursitis and sprains but when taken for chronic arthritis, bursitis and other diseases of this type it must be taken continuously or the symptoms will return. The disadvantages of such prolonged treatment include the development of "moon face," peptic ulcers and softening of the bones.

Q—My wife has taken cortisone for over a year. She is hungry all the time and has gained 45 pounds. Would cortisone cause this?
A—Yes.

Q—My internist says I have low blood sugar. He put me on a high-calorie diet with food every two hours but I still have occasional blackouts. Is there anything else I should do?
A—The treatment of low blood sugar depends in part on whether the condition is due to an inborn error of metabolism, acquired by over-indulgence in sugars and starches or caused by alcohol or certain drugs. Attacks may be triggered by such emotions as worry, grief or fear. In most victims the condition can't be cured but can be controlled with skillful treatment.

Your high calorie diet should not permit sugar, pie, cake, starchy vegetables, foods of the macaroni family, dates, raisins, coffee, tea or alcohol. The most difficult requirement in such a diet is to omit sweetened products. Foods allowed include meat, fish, low-fat milk, margarine or butter, cheese, nuts, decaffeinated coffee, very weak tea, sweetener, soft drinks, vegetables and fruits not on the proscribed list and soybean products.

A recent study indicates that injections of glucagon into the hip muscles stimulate a release into the blood of the sugar stored in the liver. This you could be taught to do for yourself in an emergency.

Q—My doctor says I have blood sediment. My count is 64 and it should be around 10. What could cause this and what can be done about it?
A—Your doctor determined your sedimentation rate which normally is less than 15 (or less than eight, depending on the technique used). In some persons the cause of an increased rate cannot be determined. More often than not, however, it indicates rheumatic fever or rheumatic heart disease and is a valuable guide to the effectiveness of the treatment used.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

QUICK QUIZ
Q—How hot is the sun?
A—The temperature of its surface is about 10,000 degrees, but the heat at the center of the sun is estimated to be about 35 million degrees Fahrenheit.

Q—What language did Jesus speak?
A—Probably Aramaic, a Semitic language which died out in the seventh century of the Christian Era. It is now spoken by only a few thousand persons living in small villages near Damascus in Syria.

Q—What American president was preceded and succeeded by President Grover Cleveland?
A—Benjamin Harrison

WIN AT BRIDGE

Trained Cards
Win Overtrick

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South was one of those players who never believe in raising their partner when they can bid a suit of their own. He also liked to bid no-trump but unlike many avid no-trump bidders he was able to make the cards perform like trained seals.

When he looked over dummy he rather wished that he had left this no-trump hand for someone else to play. He could insure two spade tricks simply by playing dummy's eight of spades on the opening lead. He counted two heart tricks to make four and possibly one diamond and four clubs for a total of nine.

East played the king of spades on dummy's eight and South won with the ace. There was no reason for South to hold up.

Four club tricks would be available if West would show up with king and one club so South led his deuce of clubs at trick two. West's king fell to dummy's ace and South continued with the queen of clubs just in case West had played king from king-small. West discarded a spade and South abandoned the idea of bringing in four club tricks.

Some players might have given up at this point and come to their hand with the jack of clubs in order to go after one diamond trick but not this South.

He led out dummy's king of diamonds with all the carelessness of a man who was looking at both the queen and jack in his own hand. West could see that South was short of entries and West was not going to give up his diamond control. He let the king hold. South continued with the eight of diamonds. East played low and South rose with the jack. West ducked again and South had his ninth trick but he wasn't satisfied. He led another diamond, bumped the ace and queen together and wound up with an incredible over-trick.

Phillies Nip Dodgers at Own Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rick Wise and Tony Taylor have muscled in on the Dodgers' pitch-and-putt concession in the National League and Juan Marichal is making a play for the Giants' clean-up job.

Wise pitched an overpowering six-hitter and Taylor delivered the tie-breaking run with a sixth-inning squeeze bunt Wednesday night as the Philadelphia Phillies nipped league-leading Los Angeles at its own game, 3-2. It was the Dodgers' sixth loss in 32 one-run games at home this year.

Marichal, meanwhile, atoned for a mediocre pitching effort with a ninth-inning homer—his first of these— that lifted San Francisco at second-place. The Giants' come-from-behind victory boosted them within four games of the Dodgers, who retained their 1 1/2-game spread over Pittsburgh.

Philadelphia managed only five hits against Claude Osteen and reliever Phil Regan but Wise, who celebrated his 21st birthday last week, made the one-run margin stand up by blanking the Dodgers over the last seven innings for his fifth victory in 11 decisions.

"The kid had good stuff," Dodger Manager Walter Alston said. "That's all there was to it."

Willie Davis got the last out of the game with a lead-off single in the sixth — and Wise then retired 11 batters in order before walking Lou Johnson with two out in the ninth.

Taylor pushed the lead run across with his sacrifice bunt after a single by Dick Groat and a throwing error by third baseman Dick Schofield set the stage in the sixth.

Marichal homered off reliever Roy Face in the ninth after his batterymate, Tom Haller, pulled the Giants even with a two-run shot off Face. The Pirates had touched Marichal, now 23-6, for two runs in the top of the ninth and a 5-3 lead.

Elsewhere, Atlanta rolled to its 18th victory in 20 games, blanking St. Louis 4-0 on two homers by Denis Menke and rookie Dickey Kelley's three-hit pitching, while homers by Billy Williams and Adolph Phillips powered Chicago past Cincinnati 9-3.

Baltimore topped Kansas City 10-8, Cleveland whipped Minnesota 6-2 and Detroit edged California 2-1 in American League play. The Tigers-Angels nightcap was rained out, as were the Washington-Boston doubleheader and the Chicago-New York single game.

Rich Allen hit his 39th homer for the Phils in the second but the Dodgers countered with two runs in the bottom of the inning, the first scoring on Allen's error and the second on a single by Osteen.

The Phils tied it in the fourth on singles by Allen and Harvey Kuenn and a force-play ground-er.

The loss, second for Osteen in four nights, dropped his season mark to 16-13.

Bill Mazeroski singled across one run and another scored when Willie Mays bobbled the hit, sending Pittsburgh ahead 5-3 in the ninth. But Jesus Alou singled and Haller drilled his 26th homer, tying the score, and Marichal untied it one out later.

Tommy Sisk, the Pirates' starter, held the Giants hitless until the seventh, when Ken Henderson led off with his first major league homer. Don Clendenon smacked a three-run homer for the Pirates.

Tigers to Arkadelphia on Friday

By JAMES HAMILTON
and
JOSEPH WITHERSPOON

The Yerger Tigers will be traveling to Arkadelphia Friday, September 23, to play the Peake High Waterbuffaloes.

Now having a record of 1-2 the Tigers plan to make amends for their losses to Merrill and Southeast both of Pine Bluff.

The Tigers think they have a good chance of scoring their arch rival the Waterbuffaloes. The Tigers lineup for this game is different from the lineup at the beginning of the season. Their defense is compiled of all seniors and their offense is now the youngest in the conference with only freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. But now with this change the Tigers believe that they give up less ground. You can be assured that if this method is a success the Tigers probably will use it throughout the season. With the splendid coaching of Mr. Joe Ware, Mr. George Straughter, Mr. Zollie Hill and a new addition to the coaching staff Mr. B. Burkette, who is in charge of the defensive line the Tigers should be victorious Friday night as they take on the Waterbuffaloes.

Record in Brown Jug Is Possible

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A break in the weather enhanced chances today for a possible record in the 21st renewal of the Little Brown Jug.

Week-long rains, which have battered the Delaware Fairgrounds half-mile oval, abated Wednesday and gave way to sunshine.

Track Supt. Wayne (Curly) Smart and his crew worked on the racing strip for 2 1/2 hours and Smart predicted that barring further rains, conditions for the $75,000 Jug would be perfect.

Romeo Hanover, owned by the Lucky Star Stables and Morton Funder of New York City, remained the solid favorite to capture the pacing classic for 3-year-olds.

Romeo, who will be reigned by George Sholtz, was given a good chance to score in straight heats and nail down the second leg of pacing's Triple Crown.

The big bay colt scored in the Cane Futurity earlier so a victory here and in the Messenger Stake in November would lock up the crown for the swift sophomore sidewheeler.

Romeo may find it a bit tougher breaking fabled Bret Hanover's world record mile of 1:57, set in last year's Jug. But the favorite already owns a 1:56 1/5 clocking this year over a five-eighths-mile track.

If three heats are necessary and they produce three different winners, then the three heat winners will come back for a raceoff.

Best challenger in the field of 12 appears to be Bonjour Hanover, a full sister of the incomparable Bret. Bonjour, who will be driven by Stanley Dancer, is bidding to become the first filly ever to win the Jug.

She has won 15 times in 17 starts, boasts a 1:57 clocking at DuQuoin, Ill., Sept. 1 and has earnings in excess of $97,000.

But Romeo's credentials are more impressive with a string of 13 straight triumphs and earnings of $173,185. The only blot on his record is a third place finish last May 5, in his initial start.

Porkers Go Through Contact Drill

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday it looked like the Arkansas Razorbacks know what they're going to have to do to stop the Tulsa Hurricane here Saturday.

Broyles put the defending Southwest Conference champion Porkers through their second straight day of heavy contact during a closed practice.

He said his biggest concern is getting "our defenses adjusted to the spread men on both sides" of the Tulsa formation. "I don't know if we'll play it or not, but we sure are getting lined up good on what they do."

He predicted Tulsa will run more than six grounds played—the number the Hurricane used last year against Arkansas.

Arkansas is going for its 23rd straight regular season victory after a 14-10 triumph in the Razorback opener against Oklahoma State last week.

Namath Does Well in Insurance

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath probably couldn't get his gimpy right leg insured by Lloyds of London, but then right now he's happy with his own insurance agency.

The insurance agency, a subsidiary of the New York Jets, is the "offensive line which stands between Namath and opposing tacklers, protecting the $400,000 quarterback and his $1.98 right leg.

The linemen, particularly guard Sam DeLuca and tackles Sherman Plunkett and Winston Hill, did such an outstanding job Sunday that Namath stood in the New York backfield pitching five touchdown passes in a 52-13 victory over Houston.

For that performance Namath was selected today as the Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League. But you can't convince him that he could have done it without his insurance men.

"The protection was fantastic," Namath said. "The knee held up very well, mainly because I didn't get hit. When we got the plays (long touchdowns) that just came from great protection. Two of those long ones were on broken patterns."

"If I hadn't had the protection we never would have got them," Namath continued. "On the one to Sauer (split end George Sauer) I looked at four guys before I saw George."

"You have to have protection because I have to look at the linemen to see if he's blitzing, then at the safety to see what he's doing and then at my receiver. That's three people you have to check before you pass—and two are on defense."

But Namath got the protection—and time—he needed in the battle of the only remaining unbeaten teams in the Eastern Division and pulled the Jets into the top spot with a 67-yard strike to Sauer, a 25-yarder to Matt Snell, a 13-yarder to Pete Lammons and 55- and 37-yarders to Don Maynard.

Hatfield to Seek Out Cleanup Man

HOUSTON (AP) — Grady Hatton of the Houston Astros, the team's winningest manager, says an all-out effort will be made this winter to acquire a right-handed cleanup hitter and left-handed pitching help.

"We are going to talk to everybody... explore all possibilities," Hatton said Wednesday after signing a one-year contract as manager a second year. He turned down a multi-season offer.

Hatton was named manager last December when General Manager Paul Richards was fired and Luman Harris was relieved of his duties as field manager.

Under Hatton's guidance the Astros have won 67 games this season with eight more to play, the best season in their five years in the National League. The previous high was 66 victories in both 1963 and 1964.

The Astros were the surprise team of 1966 through the first half of the season and were in fifth place through July 23. However, they went into a second-half tailspin mostly because of injuries to key personnel and steadily dropped to their current position.

Thinks Hope Will Outlast Smackover

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — North Little Rock has skipped past three foes in easy fashion and strengthened its grip on the state's No. 1 ranking, but the first major test remains to be met.

That will come Friday night when the Wildcats tangle with fifth-ranked Little Rock Hall. The Warriors are also undefeated and their only common foe — Jacksonville — fell to both teams by four touchdowns.

However, North Little Rock is the defending champion in the Associated Press poll and the No. 1 ranking is something it now is accustomed to. North Little Rock 7-0.

Pine Bluff at Fort Smith Northside—This one is usually among the finest games of the year in Arkansas high school football. This year, however, will be an exception. The Grizzlies are much too strong. Northside 20-6.

Fayetteville at Fort Smith Southside — This crucial Class AAA Western Division game is slated for tonight. Southside is unbeaten and was the pre-season choice in the division. But Fayetteville boasts a veteran team with a lot of desire, factors that will spell upset for Southside. Fayetteville 13-6.

Last week's tally was 28-5, an .848 percentage. The season's total stands at 71-15-6, an .804 percentage.

Elsewhere around the state, here are the forecasts for other Class AAA and Class A games:

West Memphis 13, Blytheville 7
Little Rock Central 13, Jonesboro 7
Little Rock McClellan 20, Subiaco 6
El Dorado 7, Texarkana, Tex. 0
Benton 20, Hot Springs 7
Springdale 13, Springfield (Mo.) Hillcrest 0
Texarkana 21, Tyler (Tex.) Lee 14
Silvaco Springs 20, Bentonville 6

Clay Far in Future for Joe Frazier

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

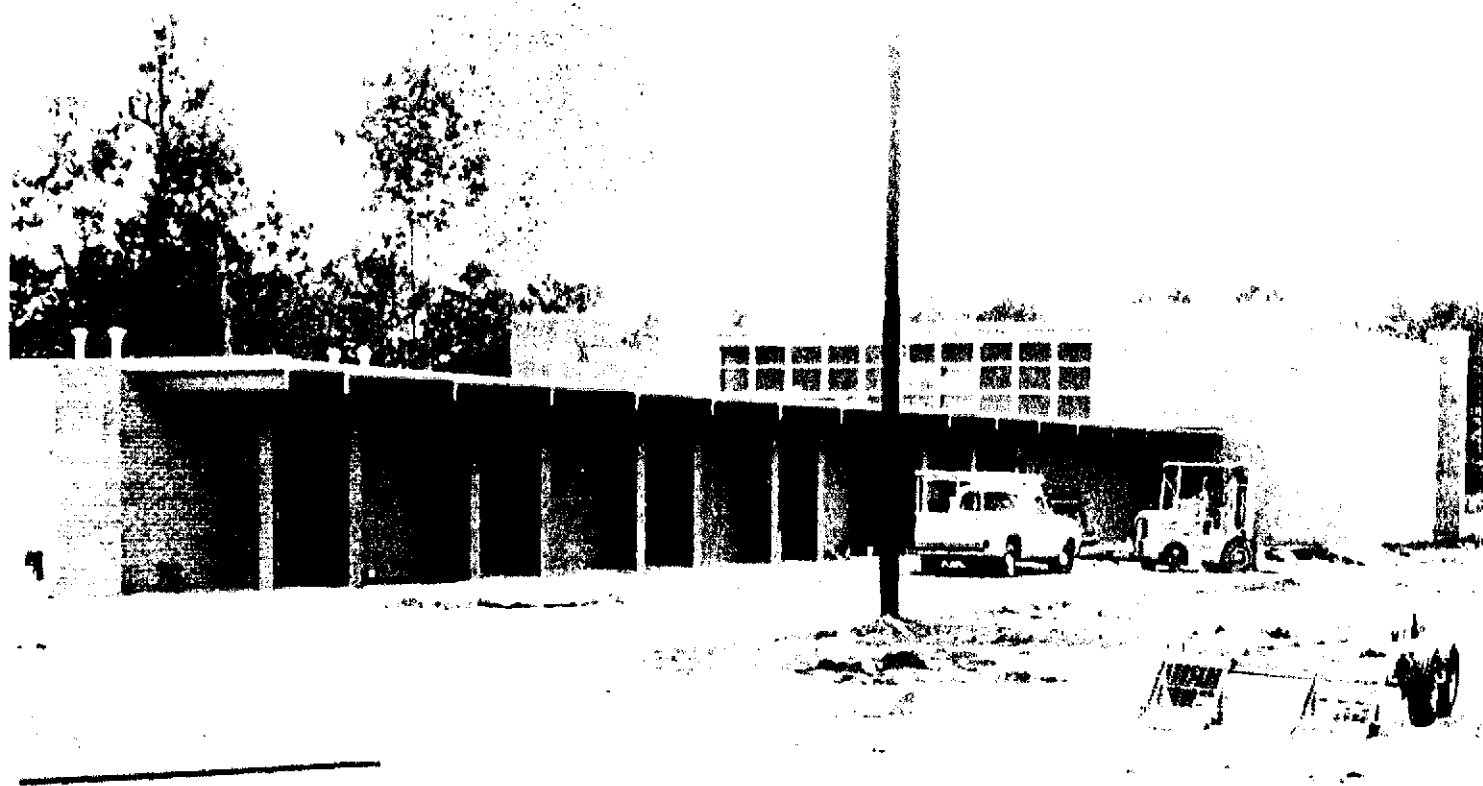

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay still is way off in the future — say 1968 — for Joe Frazier, the unbeaten 1964 Olympic heavyweight king.

After Wednesday night's split decision over Oscar Bonavena, the South American champ, they know Frazier can (1) go 10 rounds, (2) handle a rated fighter and (3) get off the floor.

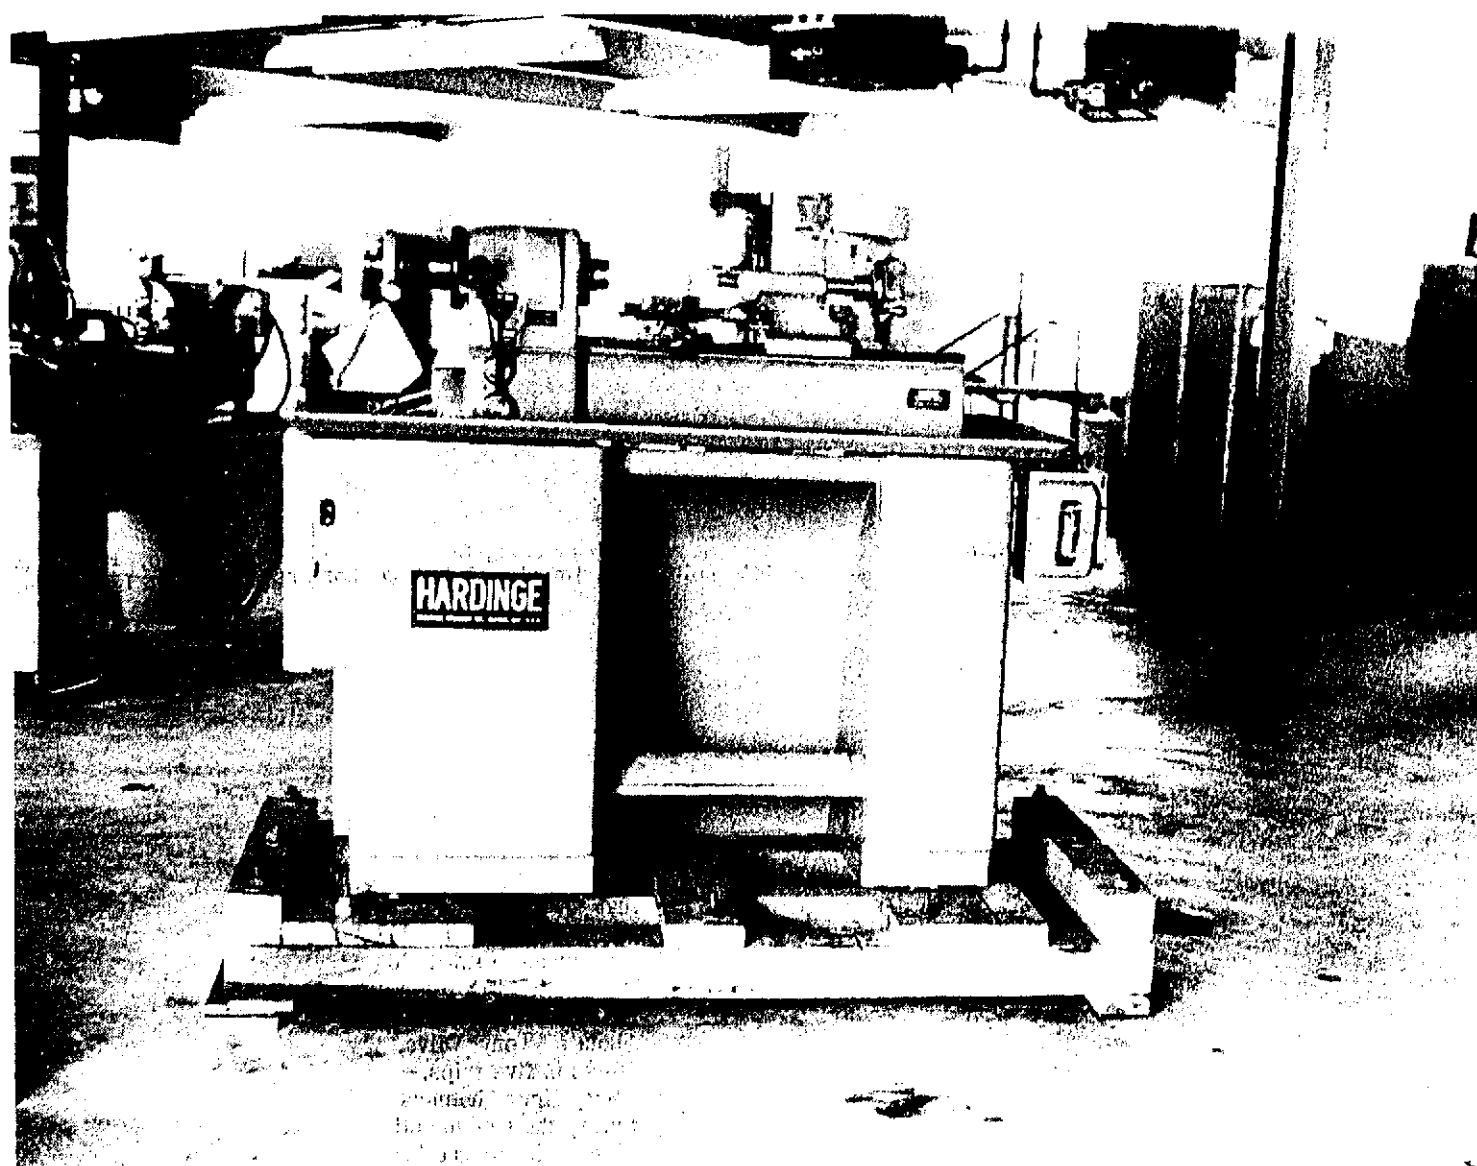

Bonavena, ranked No. 9 among Clay's challengers, dropped Frazier twice in the second round for mandatory eight-counts. The 22-year-old Philadelphia came up fighting and proceeded to sweep the next four rounds.

Frazier was ahead on the cards of referee Mark Conn, 6-4 and judge Joe Eppy

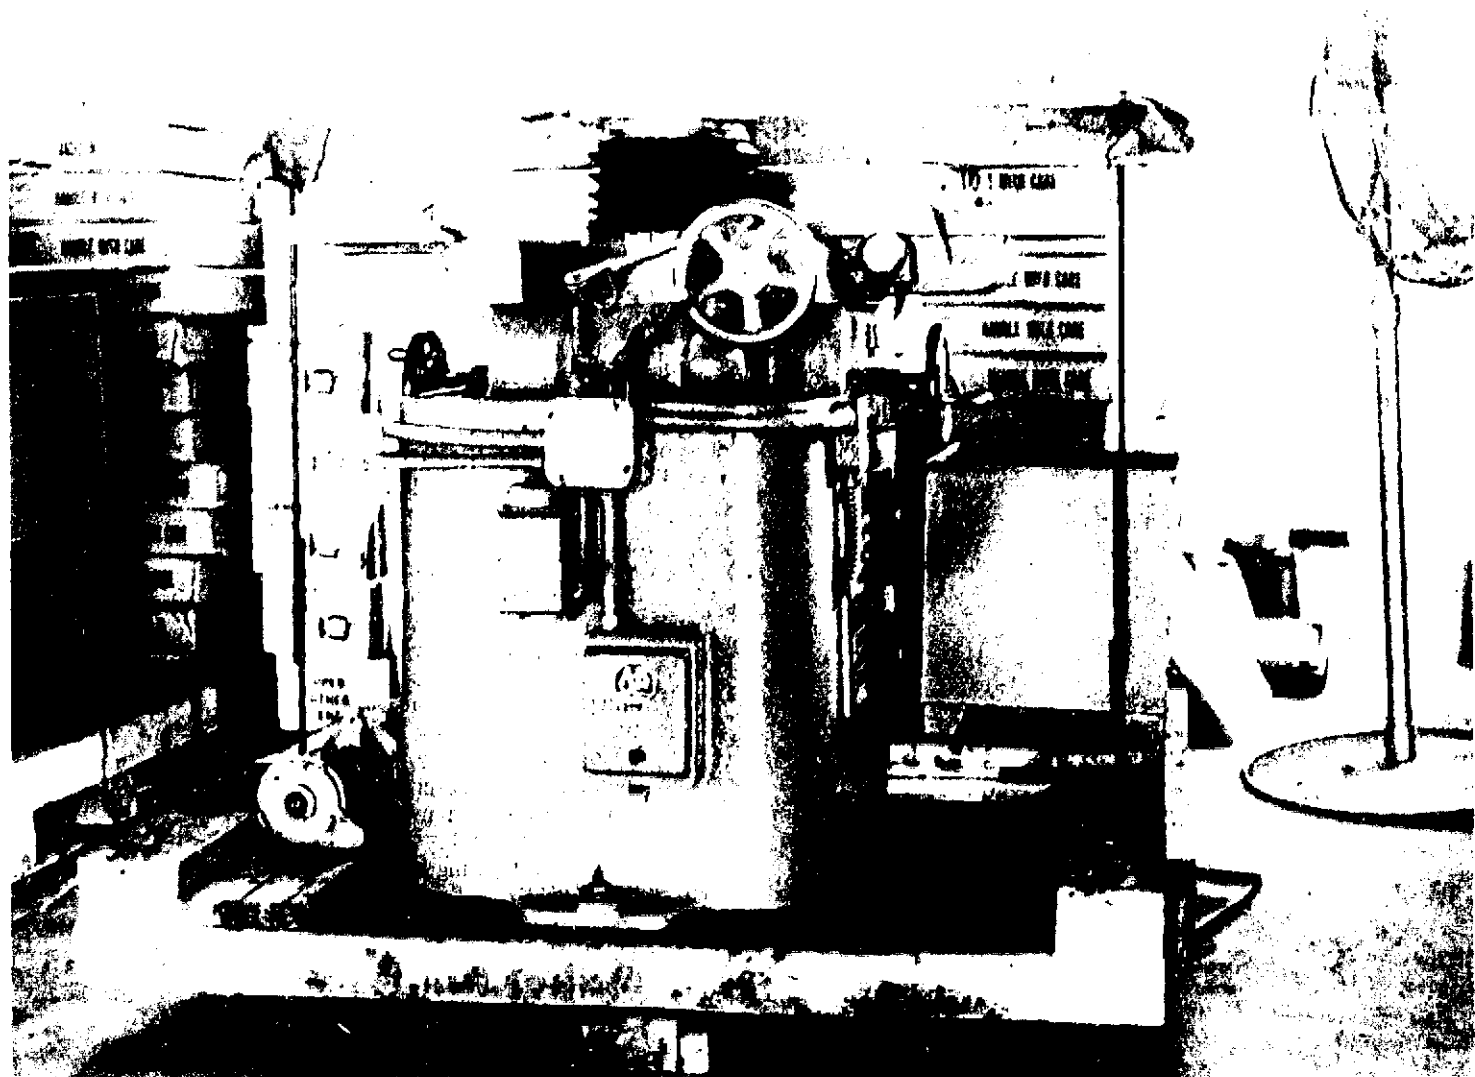

Tech School Receives New Equipment From GSA

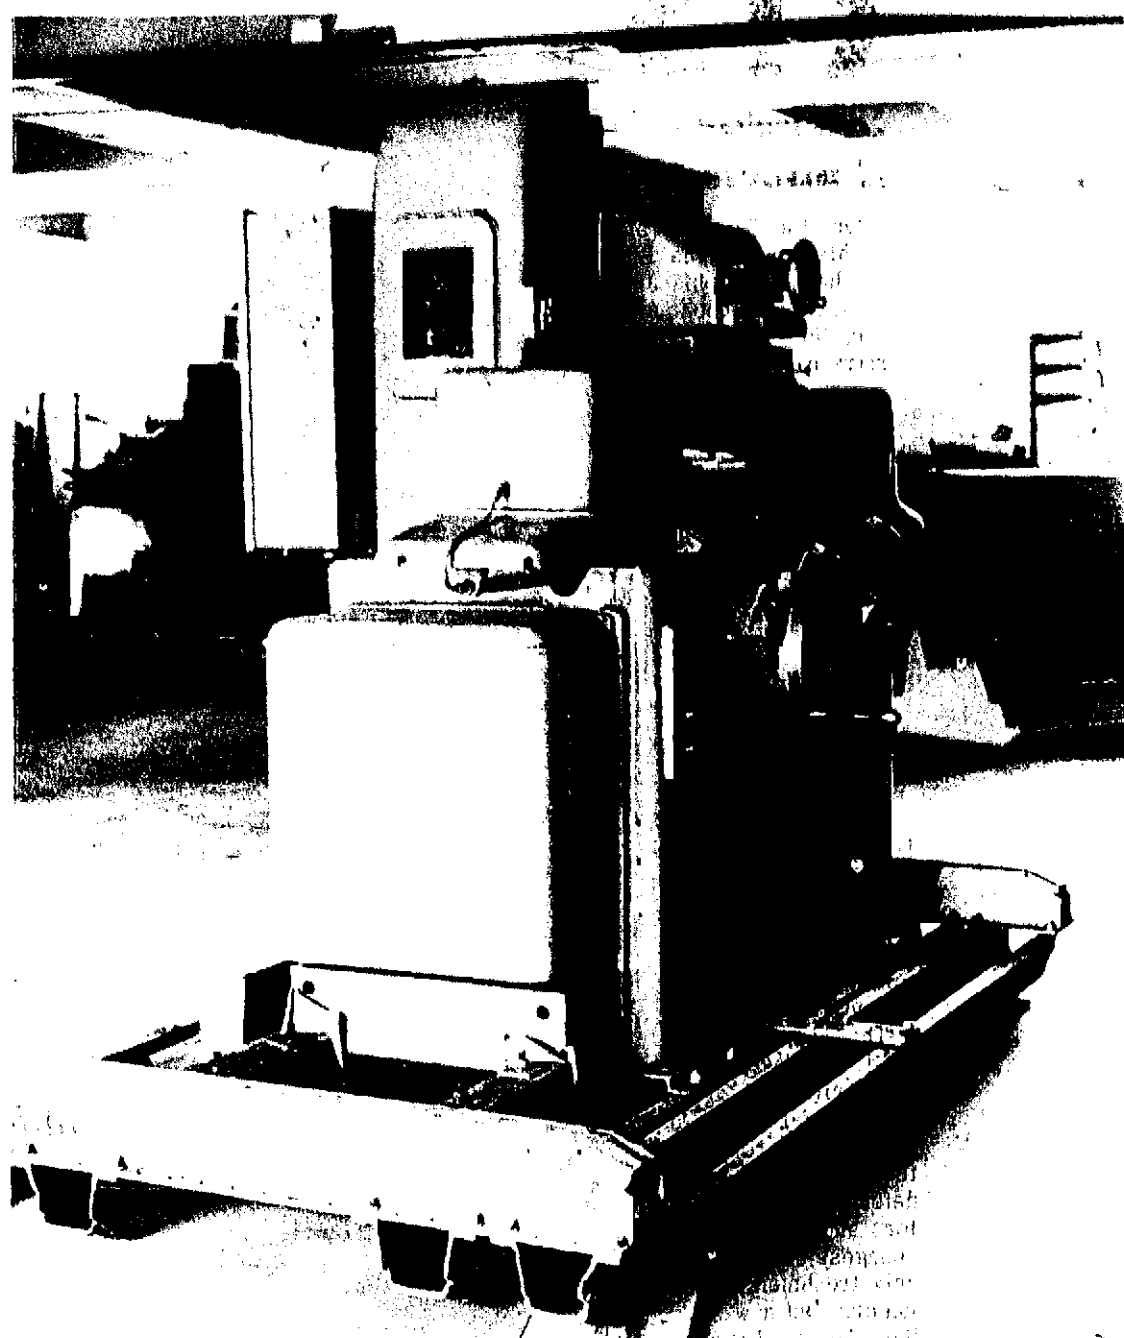

At the Red River Vocational Technical School, the above picture is an outside view of the building housing the Welding Shop and Machine Shop on this front side with the Deisel and Heavy Truck Mechanic Shop at the rear. Classrooms are also a part of this building. Approximately 8000 square feet are covered by this building which has a tectum built-up roof and full length ventilating windows. Gene Dillard is the instructor of the Machine Shop and Jim Stroud the instructor of the Welding Shop.

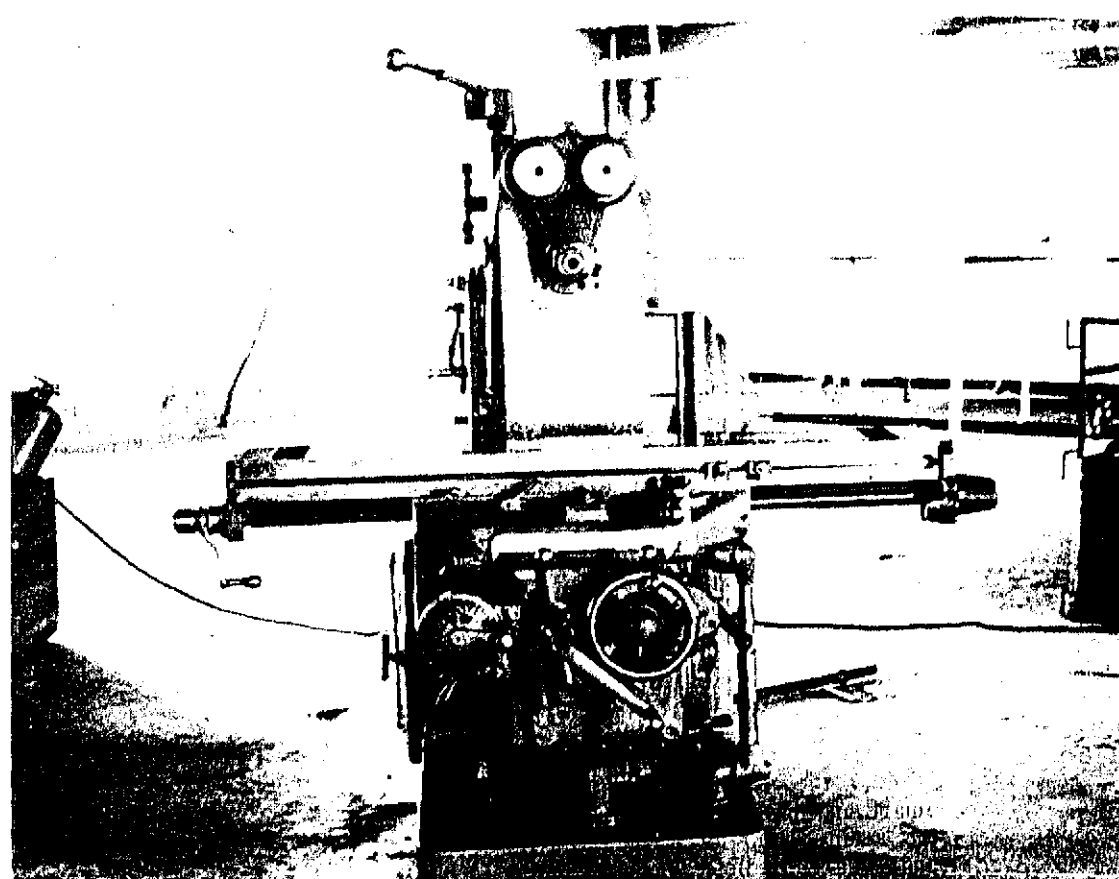

The above machine is a precision Tool Makers Lathe which will be used in the Technical School's instructional program.

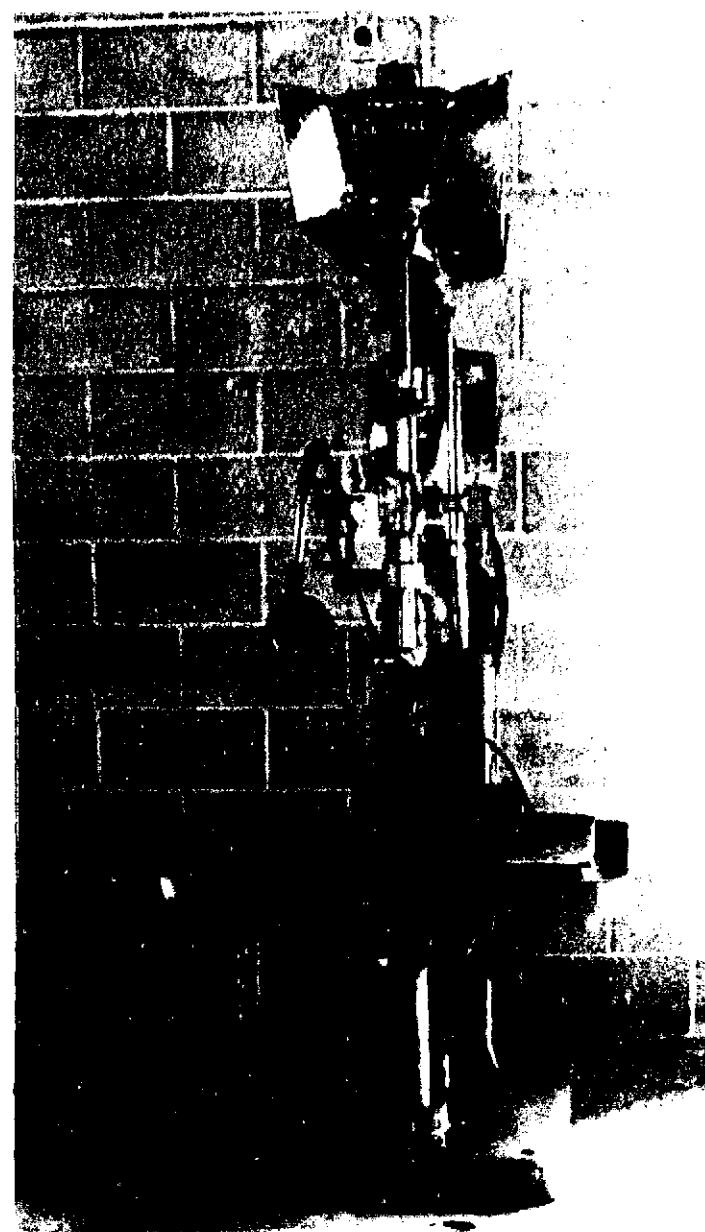

The above is a Milling Machine, vertical type, which is used to cut metal to precision measurements.

The above is a Hydraulic Surface Grinder with magnetic chuck.

The above is another Milling Machine, the horizontal type, complete with all attachments, which also cuts metal to precision measurements.

This is a Drilling and Tapping Machine, used principally for drilling holes.

The General Service Administration has shipped 26 pieces of equipment for use in training at RED RIVER VOCATIONAL TECHNICAL SCHOOL. Six welders, one drilling and tapping machine, one drill, one vertical grinder, one surface grinder, one tool maker's lathe, and one milling machine were received Friday night at the site. Picnic Memories from Childhood

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

HOW REGIONAL picnic fare is! You realize this when you listen to nostalgic descriptions of picnic menus remembered from childhood. Here, for instance, are some musings from a picnic fan who grew up in Nebraska:

"Our family usually included cold fried chicken, potato salad, tomatoes fresh from the garden, homemade bread-and-butter sandwiches, iced tea and cake or watermelon.

"I had an Aunt Mary who was a superb cook and whose fried chicken was known for miles around. Aunt Mary put only salt and pepper on the chicken - no flour or other coatings - because she wanted the chicken itself to brown. And she fried the pick-up-size pieces in half lard, half butter. Every time I cook fried chicken this way I am reminded of her wisdom.

"In those far-off days on our Nebraska farm, we did everything ourselves. Dad killed and plucked the chickens. Mother and I cleaned and cut them up. To this day I still buy whole fryers and cut them up myself so they'll be disjointed just the right way.

"Iced tea was our standard picnic beverage. Lemons and oranges were saved for lemonade and orangeade for special occasions when Mother 'had the ladies in.'"

Want to have an old-time Nebraska-style picnic? Fry chicken Aunt Mary's way and add potato salad and the other fixings. Have your picnic in comfort on the terrace! And save yourself dish-washing. For the pick-up fried chicken you need only paper napkins. Modern plates with sleek surfaces are great for a moist food such as potato salad. Choose paper cups to match the plates and pour out that old-time beverage - iced tea. It's as refreshing today as it was in the 1900's when, according to culinary historians, it was first served.

TERRACE PICNIC and no dishes to wash if you use paper service - napkins for the pick-up fried chicken, plates for the potato salad and tomatoes and cups for the iced tea.

TERRACE POTATO SALAD
5 medium-size potatoes (about 2 pounds)
5 tablespoons safflower oil
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 3 cup finely chopped mild sweet onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup thinly sliced radishes
1 2 cup diced dill pickle

1 2 cup mayonnaise
Scrub potatoes in cold water; do not peel. Place in a medium saucepan and add boiling water to cover, barely, and 1 tablespoon salt; cover and boil until tender - 30 to 40 minutes. At once peel and dice (1/2-inch cubes) to make 1 quart. In a shallow container, stir together the oil, vinegar, onion, 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper; mix in the potatoes. Cover tightly and refrigerate for a couple of hours - oil will not solidify. Before serving, add the eggs, celery, radishes, pickle and mayonnaise. Toss together to mix lightly but well. Makes 6 servings.

Bless Teen-Agers Like This

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a letter that should give some parents of teen-agers a warm and happy glow and some a severe jolt.

A teen-age girl writes: "I'm writing for a group of teen-agers about the letter you printed from a mother who said she thought it was worth any effort for parents to enforce some standards in the home for their teen-agers in such matters as proper dress, good manners, consideration for others, and to make sure there was companionship between parents and children.

"We thank you for printing that letter and the mother for writing it.

"Our parents, too, have worked hard to teach us the same kind of things and, you know, it is wonderful to have parents that will give the teen-ager this much help.

"All teen-agers talk over their parents with each other and so many of them say they wish their parents wouldn't just give them money and a car and turn them loose to do as they please, but had time to do things with them and talk over their problems. They say they envy those of us whose parents sometimes play golf and swim with us and let us invite a friend or two to go along.

"Of course, we don't want to do everything with our parents. Lots of times we like to go places just with a crowd of teen-agers.

"We know some of this is off the subject of the letter you printed. But we just wanted parents to know that teen-agers do appreciate it when their parents do things for and with them instead of just giving them money to spend.

"We don't mind dressing in a way our parents approve of and we know that we have good reputations because our parents have sometimes been strict with us. We thank them for all the time they have given us and for their confidence that we will do the right thing when we are out in a group.

"You may do whatever you wish with this letter but we hope you will print at least part of it, so our parents and other parents who read your column will know how we teen-agers really feel."

Enemy MIGs Shot Down in Air War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jet pilots shot down two Communist MIGs over North Viet Nam Wednesday and damaged three others in the biggest day of air combat of the war.

No American planes were lost in eight dogfights between U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and Communist jets in the "MIG Alley" area northeast of Hanoi, the Red capital, a U.S. spokesman said.

However, two U.S. planes were shot down by ground fire Wednesday during raids over the North. This brought the total of American planes reported lost over North Viet Nam to 370.

One plane downed was a Navy F4B Phantom from the carrier Coral Sea. Its two crew members are missing. The other was an Air Force F105 Thunderchief and its pilot also is missing.

The Red losses raised the U.S. score of MIG kills for the war to 21. Communist pilots have shot down five American planes.

Both of the downed Communist planes and two of those damaged were MIG17s. The third was an advanced model MIG21, the fastest in the Asian Communist arsenal.

In the ground war in South Viet Nam, North Vietnamese regulars made two mortar attacks before dawn on U.S. Marines who captured the heavily fortified village of Gia Binh late Wednesday after five days of hard fighting.

One attack caused casualties in a company headquarters area in the village just below the demilitarized zone. The other came close but missed U.S. positions. Artillery and naval gunfire silenced the mortar in search of more North Vietnamese.

The Lathernicks estimated they killed 160 North Vietnamese in the siege of Gia Binh, which ended after a tank-led assault supported by planes, naval guns and artillery. The Marines found the village laced with trenches, reinforced bunkers and tunnels and said it apparently was a major North Vietnamese supply center and staging area.

As the jet air battles raged over the North, U.S. pilots raided ground targets in North Viet Nam in 121 missions and claimed a high toll of railroad cars, trucks and aircraft sites.

The U. S. military committee announced that 96 U.S. servicemen were killed in action last week and 593 were wounded, an increase in both categories over the previous week, enemy casualties dropped sharply.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus and the two men who are seeking to succeed him will be guests Tuesday night at a banquet during the state Welfare Department's annual workshop.

A. J. Moss, welfare commissioner, said Faubus was scheduled to make an address and Democrat Jim Johnson and Republican Winthrop Rockefeller will be introduced.

The two-day workshop begins Tuesday.

Rockefeller Plane Sets Mark

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Falcon jet from Pettit Jean Air Service here broke a speed record between Seattle, Wash., and Los Angeles last Friday, the firm said Tuesday.

It said its plane, piloted by George Eremeev and Marion Burton, averaged 539.38 miles per hour on the 956.02-mile flight. The specific record was for speed over a recognized course by fixed-wing aircraft weighing between 17,636 and 26,456 pounds, the firm said.

About 2,500 persons attended the joint convention.

Those participating in the meetings and signing a statement agreeing to the proposed rules changes were Reps. John Brademas, Ind.; Hugh L. Carey, N.Y.; William D. Ford, N.Y.; Edith Green, Ore.; William D. Hathaway, Maine; Lloyd Meeds, Wash.; Patsy H. Mink, Hawaii; James G. O'Hara, Mich.; Roman C. Pucinski, Ill.; James H. Scheuer, N.Y.; and Gibbons. LBJ Has New Methods for Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP) — No doubt about it, President Johnson has fixed upon a semi-formal pattern for news conferences that offers something for everyone.

Finding the formula best suited to his personality and talents has been a lengthy and often taxing chore for Johnson.

From all accounts, he approached the ideal Wednesday at what was officially labeled as press conference No. 74. Everyone seemed to come away at least partly satisfied — the reporters who cover the White House daily, the newsmen who drop by occasionally and the radio and television networks.

President John F. Kennedy preferred more formal, televised news conferences, usually held in the State Department auditorium.

As a practical politician, Johnson knew such sessions suited Kennedy down to the shoelaces. But he did not think — and perhaps rightly so — that the same formula would work for him.

Johnson's first inclination, as demonstrated at his first presidential news conference in December 1963, was to meet with the regular White House reporters in his oval office, perhaps over coffee cups, to "bat the breeze."

That was fine with newsmen covering Johnson on a full-time basis.

Showdown on Powell Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee voted overwhelmingly today to strip controversial chairman Adam Clayton Powell of much of his power to direct the committee's business.

The vote was 27 to 1, according to Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., a member of the committee.

The action came at a meeting from which another Republican member emerged to charge that Democrats were trying to lynch Powell.

By JOHN BECKLEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The revolt against Rep. Adam Clayton Powell has taken a new turn, aimed away from a head-on clash between Powell and his chief challenger, Rep. Sam M. Gibbons, D-Fla.

Thirteen Democrats on Powell's Education and Labor Committee have come up with a new set of rules changes that would leave Powell at least a greater appearance of power than Gibbons' original proposal.

The new approach was worked out Tuesday in a day-long series of meetings. It ended with a delegation calling on Powell in hopes of winning his approval and heading off a bruising fight Thursday, when the rules changes are to be voted on.

Powell was noncommittal. Asked later if he was considering the proposal, the New York Democrat, a Negro, said: "I am considering — what a nice time this would be to be in Puerto Rico."

But it was believed by some who spoke to him that he would go along in the end with at least the major proposed reforms.

The new plan would leave Powell in nominal charge of committee affairs but a majority of the 21 Democrats in the committee could overrule him on such key matters as scheduling legislation, hiring and firing staff members and spending committee funds.

In effect, all chairmen are subject to majority rule of their committees, but this would put a majority of the Democrats — or 11 members — in control.

Those participating in the meetings and signing a statement agreeing to the proposed rules changes were Reps. John Brademas, Ind.; Hugh L. Carey, N.Y.; William D. Ford, N.Y.; Edith Green, Ore.; William D. Hathaway, Maine; Lloyd Meeds, Wash.; Patsy H. Mink, Hawaii; James G. O'Hara, Mich.; Roman C. Pucinski, Ill.; James H. Scheuer, N.Y.; and Gibbons. In addition, Reps. Frank Thompson Jr., N.J., and Ralph J. Scott, N.C., also signed.

Showcase School May Become Battleground in Harlem Section

NEW YORK (AP) — Civil rights leaders today threatened to turn a controversial Harlem showcase school into a "national battleground" after pickets protesting its white principal clashed Wednesday with police.

New demonstrations were expected today and a Police Department spokesman said extra men were on call.

"This has ceased to be a local issue," said Roy Innis, chairman of Harlem's Congress of Racial Equality. "It is now the stage for a national battleground."

A similar threat came from Stokely Carmichael, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, who warned the Board of Education that his group "was prepared to mount a major direct action campaign against the New York City school system and authorities."

One Negro threw himself in the path of Stanley Lisser, the school principal, Wednesday and others broke through wooden barriers and tussled with police as they tried to block Lisser from entering the new $5-million building. Five demonstrators, including one woman, were arrested.

Lisser had resigned from the post Monday in line with community demands for a "black principal" but was reinstated 24 hours later when the school's integrated teaching staff struck in protest against the transfer.

The clash between pickets and police in a rainstorm outside the school was described by Innis as "only a brief skirmish — a prelude to war."

Neither Innis, nor Carmichael, who popularized the "black power" slogan of the militant wing of the civil rights movement, would specify what steps they planned to take.

Pledges of support for the demonstrators came from a cross section of Harlem's most outspoken Negro organizations including the Black Muslims, the Black Panther party, the Organization of Afro-American Unity whose founder was the late Malcolm X, and the Peking-Oriented Progressive Labor party.

Living Costs Still Going Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for food, autos and medical care boosted sharply rising living costs another four-tenths of one per cent last month, the Labor Department reported today.

The biggest August price hikes were for food, up 1.3 per cent over all, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The increase brought the government's consumer price index up to 113.8, meaning it cost $11.38 in August to purchase items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the index so far this year was up 2.5 per cent, more than double the rise in the first eight months of last year and the biggest hike for the period since 1957.

U.S. Offers Proposal to Halt Bombings

By MAX HARRISON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States offered today to halt all bombing of North Viet Nam if the Hanoi government would agree to reduce its own military activities against South Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg made the offer in a major policy declaration before the 118-nation U.N. General Assembly. He asked the Hanoi government for a reply, either private or public.

Goldberg also declared the United States was ready to begin a phased withdrawal of its troops from Viet Nam, under effective supervision, if the Communists would agree to withdraw theirs.

He posed these two questions to North Viet Nam: "Would it, in the interest of peace, and in response to a prior cessation by the United States of the bombing of North Viet Nam, take corresponding and timely steps to reduce or bring to an end its own military activities against South Viet Nam?"

"Would North Viet Nam be willing to agree to a time schedule for supervised phased withdrawal from South Viet Nam if all external forces — those of North Viet Nam as well as those from the United States and other countries aiding South Viet Nam?"

Goldberg repeated once more the U.S. position that the role of the Viet Cong in peace negotiations was a question which could be solved by discussions.

"Our view on this matter," he said, "was stated by President Johnson, who made clear that, as far as we are concerned, this question would not be an insurmountable problem. We invite the authorities in Hanoi to consider whether this obstacle to negotiations may not be more imaginary than real."

The points raised by Goldberg dealt with the subjects raised in a three-point peace plan advanced some time ago by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

Thant had urged a cessation of the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, a phased withdrawal of troops and inclusion of all parties in peace talks.

The U.S. position generally followed previous U.S. policy, but the offer to halt the bombings seemed to peel out more specifically what would be expected of North Viet Nam in return. In the 14-point program previously advanced by the United States, it was stated that the bombings would be stopped if Hanoi stated what would happen next.

Goldberg said: "We offer these proposals in the interest of peace in Southeast Asia. There may be other proposals. We have not been and are not now inflexible in our position."

Once Banned But Now Is Knighted

LONDON (AP) — Seretse Khama, prime minister of Bechuanaland who was once banished from his homeland by the British for marrying a white woman, received a knighthood today.

An announcement said Queen Elizabeth II had approved his appointment as a knight commander of the Order of the British Empire.

The 45-year-old chief of the Bamangwato tribe now will be known as Sir Seretse Khama. His wife, one-time London secretary Ruth Williams, becomes Lady Khama.

Their marriage in 1948 led to considerable opposition within the Bamangwato tribe of which Seretse was then chieftain-designate. The postwar labor government, fearing bloodshed in Bechuanaland, exiled Seretse. He has lived modestly in England for more than five years.

Home Making

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — There is much borrowing going on in home furnishings. Unlike books, however, the mistakes come home to roost.

This is why it is essential to know which region of the country you want to draw upon when decorating.

The major design rivalry continues to rage between the East Coast and West Coast. Diehards feel that television, the great American homogenizer, is far from being all-powerful in blending regional home furnishings into one American style. For this we're happy.

Our ancestors were regional mavericks and put an early stamp to their area's sense of style. It is warming that many faithfully cling to certain decorating elements they can trace to the family.

In a sense, eclectic decorating so popular now encourages a family to take some of its regional "heirlooms" along when it criss-crosses the continent as dad changes jobs.

In today's decoration, though, there is much borrowing from coast to coast.

Many interior designers feel the West Coast is proving the most influential with its refreshing approach to home furnishings designs. There is great warmth of color and texture in fabrics to reflect and complement the terrain and climate.

With the return to more elegance in living, the eastern influence with its European overtones inserts itself, too. The dining room is a perfect example of what is happening because of the mixing of design trends of each coast.

From the West Coast a hostess draws from an easy-going look based upon indoor-outdoor living. The table arrangements draw from frontiers simplicity combined with an Oriental influence. This finds a place even in such traditional holdouts as New England while East Coast traditional elegance finds a home in an air-conditioned western ranch.

Proof of this is a recent survey on china buying by Syracuse China. The firm discovered that such buying, once regionally predictable, definitely shows the influence of one coast on the other. Fine china patterns with classic lines and decorated with traditional motifs no longer belong solely to the TABLE SETTINGS reflect the coastal influences on home decorating. Traditional English setting features (left) a coupe-shaped china pattern with gold and black border. Centerpiece is of natural dried flowers, miniature black grapes and gold velvet ribbons. The tablecloth is accented by an undercloth of gold. Michael Love, N.S.I.D., who designed the setting, switches to ranch-style dining with a centerpiece of eggplant, artichokes and avocados (right). A grass-green runner and Bristol blue napkins set off an eastern Engagement china pattern with fluted gold-banded edge. Designer Love used a Fostoria Remembrance pattern for the eastern setting and Berkeley for his western arrangement.

East. Coupe-shaped contemporary fine china patterns, often with elegant decoration, find their way from a home in the West into a New Englander's china cupboard.

The most important trend to come from this coastal mix-match is beautiful table settings with china, sparkling crystal and well-designed silver.

It seems the whole family is outgrowing daily TV dinners on TV trays and finds it can "sit at the table" again with pleasure.

Figures Governor Owns State

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP) — "A governor," said David Hall, "is somebody who owns the state."

"A governor gets his job by being a nice man," observed Lisa Perokovich.

Lisa and David are among the 7-year-olds in Mizel Roberts' second grade at the Gilbertsville, Ky., elementary school which is situated within 50 feet of the Southern Governors Conference.

The school was here before the meeting hall, and one result has been a strange mingling of recess and news conferences on the school lawn.

Many of the youngsters are convinced the governors came here just to see them. "To inspect the school," is the way one lad put it.

A newsman interrupted an exercise in modern math Tuesday to obtain the second-grade view of the goings-on.

Virtually all hands in the class went up when the youngsters were asked, "How do you tell the governors from the other people here?"

"They're the ones with the flowers and white things (ribbons) on their coats," responded Marty Osborne.

The governors might be somewhat disturbed to learn that several youngsters, when asked how a governor gets his job, replied, "The President named him" or "President Johnson picks him."

Ruth Ann Wommack said, "The people vote for him."

Asked what a democracy is, David Hall allowed, "It's something like a lot of wars." Asked what a governor does, Tony Moore suggested, "He's the one who tells all the generals what to do."

When the class learned that the governor's wife is called the "first lady," it was Mary Jane Dedmon who explained why: "Because she is the first lady the governor asked to marry him."

Pekoe Tea
Pekoe is the Chinese word for "white hair" and formerly was a term applied to young tea leaves covered with a white down. They sometimes scented the leaves with orange blossoms, hence orange pekoe tea.

Jim Drury Has 'Always Been Difficult'

By JOAN CROSBY

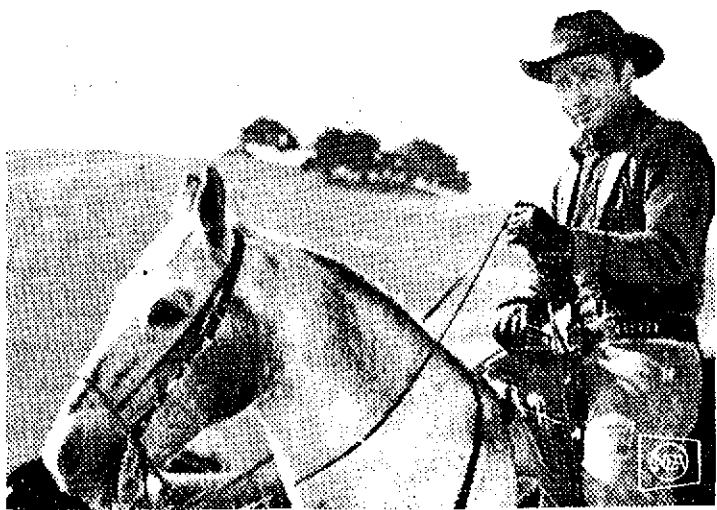

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — James Drury is a "difficult son of a gun" (his own description), the way Jack Benny is a 39-year-old tightwad and Dean Martin is a drunk.

The dark, attractive star of NBC-TV's The Virginian is not the rude, close-lipped ogre he has been made to seem in some stories. Drury himself is the first to admit his relations with the press are not cordial, mainly because he is a man who so closely guards his privacy that his studio, Universal, doesn't have his home telephone number. (He has to be reached through a service.)

But if you talk to people who work closely with him, the word they all apply to him is "gentleman." He is that. He is also a man of integrity, a temper, a stubborn streak, and a man who cares.

Because "American boys are getting their rear ends shot off," he recently headed a small entertainment troop that spent 23 days in Viet Nam where Jim not only was shot at but also caught dengue fever and lost 16 pounds.

JAMES DRURY AND FRIEND

"Viet Nam was a profound experience," he said, during a break from filming "The Young Warriors," a Universal movie to be released in August. "Conditions are very bad there, but it is an inspiring thing to see how cheerful the men in Viet Nam are. They grin from ear to ear in greeting. They believe in what they are doing and why they are there. They are more interested in creating peace and they spend their off-duty time helping the people. Almost all orphanages are built, staffed, manned and financed by off-duty American soldiers."

As the fifth season of The Virginian approaches, Jim is still happy with the series and his role, which sets him apart from almost all other actors, who find restlessness creeping in after a couple of seasons.

This year, aside from his movie, Jim will spend a week appearing in "The Owl and the Pussycat" in stock. "I look forward to the play because I haven't done one in a number of years. There's not much chance with The Virginian. But he still has no complaints about his series.

"I feel the series will last for another five years. If it does, I will stay with the show. I feel it has done great things for me. If I were bored stiff with it, out of gratitude and professional ethics I would stay. But the fact is, I am not bored. The Virginian has done more for me than anything else. I do not understand actors who find a show which turns them into a star and then they turn around and bite the hand that feeds them."

Ask Jim if he has changed in the five years he has been playing the role and he will ask, "Haven't you? Anybody who lives through five years of anything has to change. It's hard to evaluate changes in yourself and I'd be the last to try. I have been able to put into effect many dreams I have had in the last years, and basically most of them are the same dreams I had five years ago."

"I'm just about the same son of a gun I always was. I haven't gotten difficult. I was difficult before we started shooting the series."

A LOVELY JAPANESE lass, Mie Hama, carries a lead role opposite Sean Connery (James Bond) in the new movie, "You Only Live Twice," now shooting in Japan. Mie adds just the right touch to Agent 007's derring-do.

"Five Ks"

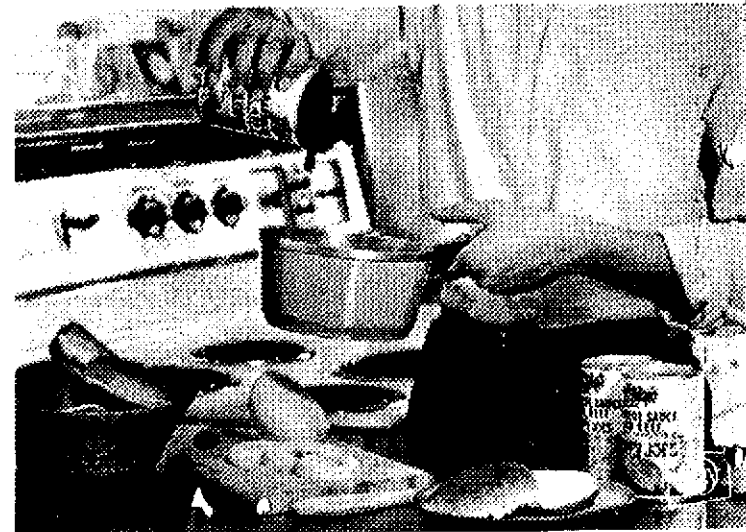

Orthodox members of India's Sikh religion display their faith by wearing the "five Ks"—kes, unshorn hair; kachh, knee-length pants; kara, the iron bracelet; kirpan, the short sword; kangha, a comb worn under the turban.

Sloppy Joes Make College Scene

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Now that the lusty young are back at school, hearty snacks, either at home or in the college dorm, are the order of the day, or of the night, after a school game or "booking" in the library.

Easy-to-heat canned products such as Sloppy Joes, a mixture of beef or pork in barbecue sauce, served over toasted buns or spaghetti and topped with chopped onion, pickle relish, shredded cheese, or what have you, seem a special favorite of the always ravenous set. According to our own son, a senior at a New Hampshire college, he and his friends think Sloppy Joes rate full college credits.

Dress Up 'Shirtwaist' With Expensive Fabric

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some women make shirtwaist dresses of gingham, of easy-care fabrics; others make them of jersey, of tweed, of rich brocade, and why not?

If a shirtwaist dress is becoming to you, why not make it of lovely fabrics and enjoy it to the full all year round?

The simplicity and usual becomingness of the shirtwaist dress make it most satisfactory.

Dresses for now can have long or short sleeves, a tie, string, or wide belt. Buttons may be shirtwaist-type pearl or jeweled as you like.

You can cut the neckline far enough from the throat to make room for a scarf or pearls or omit these and wear a brooch on the shoulder. It is what you do with a dress to make it individually right that is important.

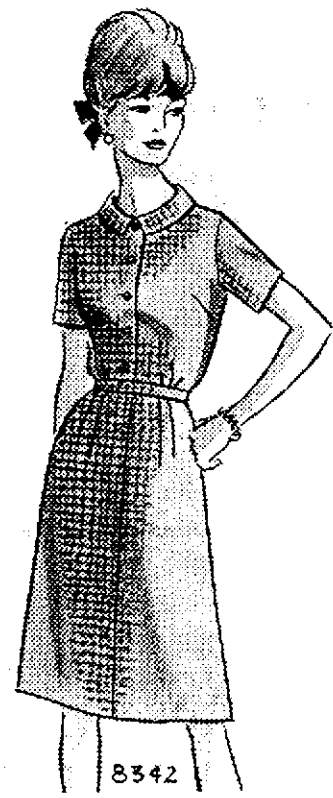

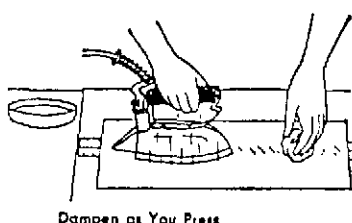

The main reason why so many women sew today is to express their own individuality.

When you can buy fabric from 50¢ to $50 per yard, you have a wide range of choice. When you sew with practiced skill, you are sure to have a good and flattering dress.

With the carbon sheets now available for marking, it is easy when cutting to mark both sides of a garment so that darts, tucks, notches all are true and rightly placed, and, best of all, match.

The electric iron that presses every seam flat and smooth and even takes all wrinkles out of the tops of sleeves is a boon to good tailoring.

Cover a jar with a turkish towel (if you lack a sleeve roll), dampen and sponge out every wrinkle so that the sleeve looks as though it grew out of the armhole rather than crowded into it.

Will Not Support Johnson

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Oscar Fendler, the veteran Democratic Party official who announced last week that he would not support Jim Johnson, the Democratic nominee for governor, said Monday he still has not heard from the party about the matter.

But, said Fendler, an attorney, he has heard from a couple of hundred persons who have applauded his stand.

Fendler stated his position in a telegram to the Democratic State Convention. He offered to resign as a member of the Mississippi County Democratic Committee if he were asked to by party officials.

Leon Catlett, the Democratic state chairman, said in Little Rock Monday that he has not had time to think about Fendler.

"When I get some important business tended to, I may think about it a little," Catlett said.

Fendler said in the telegram that he could not vote for Johnson because Johnson "campaigns on a platform of hate and bigotry."

Johnson, addressing the convention, did not mention Fendler by name but referred to him as a member of the Civil Rights Commission.

Fendler said he was not a member of the commission but that he had gone to Washington in 1963 to discuss civil rights at the request of the late President John F. Kennedy.

"When the president calls you to Washington, you don't just say you can't come," Fendler said. "I was a segregationist then, I'm a segregationist now, but I'm also a lawyer and a citizen and I feel the law should be obeyed."

Fendler said he advised Kennedy against pushing civil rights legislation.

Fendler said he thought most Mississippi County residents felt the same way he did about Johnson and he predicted that Republican Winthrop Rockefeller would carry the county two to one if the election were held today.

Chili Chicken Is Inspired Food

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Crisp chili chicken is really inspired food for a picnic. The chicken pieces are dipped in milk, to which are added mustard, Tabasco and Worcestershire sauce. Next the chicken is coated with flour seasoned with chili powder; then baked in a hot oven in foil-lined pans. The result is the finest crisp flavorful chicken ever invited to a picnic. Of course, it can be served hot at home, too.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

The Japanese 'Gift' to 007

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TOKYO, Japan (NEA)—James Bond's Aston Martin with all its deadly accessories in "You Only Live Twice." They're trying to top that with a Japanese-made car in the new Bond picture, "You Only Live Twice," which is currently being filmed here.

Capitalizing on the Japanese electronics skill, the car is equipped with more gadgetry than a Tokyo radio store. At the moment, its armament is jetty peaceful, because the Japanese are very strict about guns and things these days.

But, when the company returns to England to finish the film, chances are that the car will have some extra added features, the kind of murderous gimmicks that only script called for a convertible. So the GT-2000 was converted for the film. Now it is sleek and roofless.

In the picture, it is driven first by Aki, a pretty naturally Japanese Secret Service agent. Playing the role is a cording unit, which shoots pictures of whatever the car is following for being followed by and records them on tape in a console tucked in behind the seat. Also a color television receiver in the dashboard. Also a two-way radio. Also a voice tape recorder. The whole thing is something like a recording studio on wheels.

The Toyota GT-2000 will sell in the United States for around $5,500. That doesn't include Akiko Wakabayashi.

AKIKO, WHO PLAYS a Japanese Secret Service agent, poses in the Toyota GT-2000, used in "You Only Live Twice." The car will be sold for export during the summer of 1967.

The Bond films can dream up.

The car was designed, built and delivered in four weeks by one of the biggest Japanese automobile manufacturers, Toyota. They started with a Toyota GT-2000, a new sports car which will soon be introduced around the world.

But this has a roof and the Japanese actress, Akiko Wakabayashi.

For her spying, she has had a few gee-gaws added, besides the 143-m.p.h. top speed and the engine displacement of 131.3 cubic inches.

Klan Threat to Move on Grenada

By JOHN PEARCE
GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan has vowed to bring Klansmen here if Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. stays "to create more ill will and dissension."

E. L. McDaniel of Natchez, state chief of the United Klans of America, said Monday night, "I will come nonviolent, but will not be stepped on or pushed around."

The Klansman issued his statement as King spoke to a rally in a crowded church. After the rally, 650 civil rights demonstrators marched under heavy police guard to the town square.

King came to this racially troubled north Mississippi town Monday night. Some of his aides said he would leave today after marching with Negro children to integrated classrooms.

More than 900 persons crowded into the New Hope Baptist Church to hear King.

"I am disturbed about the white community," he told them. "There are still all too many white people in our country who will use violence to try to keep us down. There are still white persons who will murder and assassinate Negroes simply because they want to be free."

In Natchez, the Ku Klux Klan leader was asked if he and his companions would come armed to Grenada.

"Anywhere you see me, I have mine — my life has been threatened," said McDaniel. He said the others "will come as peaceful citizens, but they will be prepared to back me up."

The grand dragon said he would be accompanied by "as many as it takes."

Butter Corn Is Excitingly Fresh

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We have always rated fresh corn-on-the-cob one of man's greatest blessings, even when the golden kernels come in a can seasoned with butter. At least that's the way we felt recently in Chicago, high over the city, far from cornfields in sunshine, when JoAnn Shurpitt, home economist for a well-known packer of canned and frozen foods, personally "pre-viewed" for us in her cheerful test kitchen her company's new canned seasoned with butter corn, peas and lima beans. The corn we ate and ate and ate was really fresh tasting, sweet and tender. Then we ate some more while the attractive Miss Shurpitt smiled at our uncontrolled enthusiasm.

The seasoned butter lima beans and peas in cans were fresh-tasting and sweet, too. Almost like the garden. Just before leaving, we asked if we could have just a little more of her corn, please. We love the stuff but only when it tastes as good as it does on the cob.

James Bond Stirs Up $6 International Incident

By DICK KLEINER

Hollywood Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

TOKYO, Japan (NEA)—James Bond is in trouble. And it may lead to an international incident of moderate proportions.

It all started when the company shooting the latest Bond movie, "You Only Live Twice," began filming at various locations around Japan. One of the locations was ancient Himeji Castle, in Himeji, near Kobe.

The scene called for Sean Connery, alias Bond, to engage in a slight contretemps with a couple of Japanese villains. They were using ninja knives, a short and deadly little weapon.

Somehow one of the knives missed its target and hit one of the castle walls. Result — a few cracks and chips.

"And now," says Cubby Broccoli, the producer, "the Japanese press is kicking up a fuss. They say we damaged a historic shrine. Actually, this particular wall isn't old at all and the damage can be repaired for about 2,000 yen."

That is approximately $6, which is relatively cheap for an international incident. To counteract that unfortunate event Connery and the rest of the company are going all-out for good public relations. And that isn't easy in Japan, because the pressure of the press here is unbelievable.

Wherever Connery or his two Japanese leading ladies, Mie Hama and Akiko Wakabayashi, travel they are deluged by press photographers. These characters with several cameras hanging around their eager necks, make Rome's infamous paparazzi look like perfect little gentlemen.

Despite all these shutter-clicking nuisances, Connery is on his best behavior. And being a good boy is showing results — both personal and for the good of the picture.

Personally, Connery (or Bond) has conquered Japan. They have always loved Bond here, just as they love spy stories and movies in general. And 007, as they call him, is now a personal pet.

He is swamped with gifts. One devoted fan even crashed into his bathroom, at a critical moment, and, with a ceremonial bow, handed him a pocket flashlight. Connery has acquired so many watches, flashlights, radios, kimonos and other made-in-Japan products that he has had to invest in some new luggage to take it all home to London with him.

As far as his campaign to rectify the Himeji Castle incident, it appears to be bearing kumquats, too. Connery has endured tremendous pressures, posing for pictures, signing autographs, doing television appearances, sitting for interviews, and all with a semismile.

Proof of the effectiveness of his diplomatic efforts is the fact that, currently, one theater in Tokyo is now showing a triple Bond bill — "Dr. No," "From Russia With Love" and "Goldfinger."
